

Welcome to the City of Mitcham

HISTORY

The City of Mitcham is Adelaide's second oldest Council area founded in 1853, celebrating 150 years in 2003. Mitcham and its surrounds has an enviable blend of both urban and rural environments, a prestigious heritage and sense of tradition. The City of Mitcham offers a unique experience for those tempted by native bushland, heritage and scenic views. With a population of approx. 65,000, the Council comprises an area of 75.7 square kilometres. Stretching from Cross Road in the north, to the Sturt River in the south; from Mount Barker Road in the east to South Road in the west.

COUNCIL BOUNDARIES

The Council consists of six wards: Overton, Gault, Boorman, The Park, Craighburn and Babbage. Two Elected Members represent each ward on Council, with the exception of Craighburn which has three, with the Mayor being the representative of the area as a whole. Each ward contains a variety of features and different development zones. Council staff and your Elected Members can assist you with any queries you may have about your ward.

COAT OF ARMS The green centre portion of the coat of arms signifies the predominant colour in Mitcham, Surrey, England; the Tower in the centre indicates a great town which the name Michelham (as Mitcham was originally spelt) means. The five keys represent the five wards into which the City was originally divided (there are now six). The signs of Cadency on the right and left quarters represent the eldest branch of the family - here used to indicate that Mitcham was the first local governing body established outside Adelaide. The Mural Crown with five stones again indicated the original five wards, and a sprig of Wattle which is typical of the hills surmounts it. On the right hand side, the stream issuing from the hills represents the Brownhill Creek which was the original name of the locality; whilst on the left hand side, the road running into a park portrays the National Park. The motto means: Let us build for posterity
